3. Course Objectives

- Grow in appreciation for the importance of the study and use of the original biblical languages in lifelong and vibrant Christian ministry.
- Develop greater proficiency in reading the Greek Bible.

4. Bibliography

- An edition of the Greek New Testament:
 - Kurt Aland et al., eds., Nestle-Aland, Novum Testamentum Graece, 28th ed. (Stuttgart: German Bible Society, 2012)
 - B. Aland et al., eds., The Greek New Testament, 5th ed. (Stuttgart: German Bible Society, 2014).
- Additional handouts might be given for class discussion.

5. Course Requirements

- Participation (80%): This course will take the form of weekly seminars in which all students will contribute actively to the reading and study of passages from the Greek Bible. Students will receive a grade for the consistency and quality of their weekly participation. Students should prepare to participate by doing the following prior to class:
 - Carefully read the relevant passage in Greek.
 - Take notes about any of the following (where relevant): vocabulary, parsing, cross-references, translation, as well as text-critical, grammatical, syntactical, and exegetical features.

Grading criteria for participation:

- Attendance: the student is consistently present in class.

- Preparation: the student gives evidence of having read, studied, and prepared the relevant passage and supplemental readings (when relevant).
- Contribution: the student contributes positively to class discussion about grammar, syntax, text criticism, exegesis, theology, ministry, and/or life.
- Charity: the student interacts charitably with others, including peers, instructor, and scholars.
- Reflection (10%): At the end of the semester, each student will provide a short reflection on one aspect of the class content. More details will be given.
- Reading affirmation (10%): At the end of the semester, each student will affirm the percentage of the text they have read.
